SHOP FOR QUALITY
NOT FOR LOW PRICE

The chick-buying season is no time to go bargain-hunting. The money you save when you purchase cheap chicks amounts to very little, really, and in the long run bargain birds may prove to be anextremely costly buy.

Start with the best. The wise poultry-raiser wants birds of strong ancestry, with a breeding background of known quality. They may cost a little more in the beginning, but in the end they will bring you greater profits.

Bargain chicks of uncertain background are likely to prove unsatisfactory for several reasons: usually, they will produce fewer eggs, yet will eat just as much as well-bred birds. The mortality rate among low-cost chicks will probably run higher, and they will almost certainly grow less rapidly. They will lack uniformity, the vigorous well-fleshed appearance of a flock with a good breeding background.

See your hatcheryman and talk over with him the matter of chick selection. Ask him to advise you on the kind of chicks t buy—then order them well ahead of time so that you will get the kind of chicks you want when you want them.

Progressive hatcherymen take real interest in the chicks after they have delivered them to you. They want to know how the chicks do, and they want to be of assistance to the raiser in every matter pertaining to management. So, ask your hatcheryman for the latest advice on chick-raising and follow his accommendations.

Enjoy the benefits that come with chicks of quality breeding stock. These benefits are more eggs, higher livability, faster growth, greater profits. All these will be yours, Mr. Poultry-Raiser, if you start right and exercise normal care in managing this year's flock.

Of Course... IT'S ELECTRIC!

MARCH is here again, the month that heralds spring—and spring housecleaning! How grandma used to dread it (and grandpa, too)! Because in those days it meant bedlam—and day-to-day house*keeping* meant endless rounds of back-breaking drudgery.

But today, millions of wise homemakers call on electric service to eliminate that twice-a-year general upheaval known as "spring housecleaning" and "fall housecleaning"... electrical appliances daily take the work out of housework . . . in cooking and cleaning, washing and ironing, sweeping and saving!

In VEPCOland, electricity makes life easier, healthier, more comfortable . . . for less than you'd pay for a daily pack of cigarettes. What other item in your family budget gives you such great living value—at such little cost?

Yes, Black-Draught may help physical fatigue if the only reason you have that listless feeling is because of constipation. BULLETIN AVAILABLE

TREE PLANTING NEEDED

It will take 200 years to do the needed reforestation in soven southwest Virginia counties at the present rate of planting, says J. W. O'Byrne, forester at V. P. I.

O'Byrne says there are more than 100,000 acres that should be reforested in the counties of Lee, Wise, Russell, Tazewell, Scott, Smyth and Washington.

Farmers in those counties are the only ones in Virginia who can get trees free-of-charge for planting. The reforestation, O'Byrne explained, is part of a cooperative project with the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Last spring 489,000 trees were planted in that section, including 330,000 pines, 99,000 locust, and 60,000 poplar, ash and other species. It takes 1,000 trees to reforest one acre.
